The Hope of the Resurrection

Spring has sprung, the sun shines on our faces, and we see the emergence of new life all around us. New life. The resurrection. My favorite subject.

Job once asked a question we all have. Job 14:14, “If a man die, shall he live again? All the days of my appointed time will I wait, Till my change come.” And then Job answered the question himself. Job 19:25–27, “For I know that my redeemer liveth, And that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth:

And though after my skin worms destroy this body, Yet in my flesh shall I see God: Whom I shall see for myself, And mine eyes shall behold, and not another; Though my reins be consumed within me.”

The hope of the resurrection did not begin when Jesus rose from the dead. It was well known to those who had studied the Old Testament.

Many scholars believe that Job is the oldest book of the Bible. Even older, written before, the Pentateuch (Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, Deuteronomy). The Old Testament is rich with prophesies of the resurrection.

Job knew that his Redeemer lives. But Job was realistic, too. He knew that his body would die and then decompose. He was pretty graphic about it. When skin worms destroy this body, he said.

But here’s the hope – yet in my flesh shall I see God. In my flesh. Job knew that he would have a physical body and see the Lord, even after the worms had eaten the body he was living in. He continues. I will see God myself with my own eyes. Not other eyes. My own eyes.

Then he emphasizes – even though my reins be consumed in me. That means that (Page 3)

A Trust Issue

Psalm 118:8, “It is better to trust in the Lord, than to put confidence in man.”

About two months ago, I made a move to Denver, Colorado. It is perhaps the most beautiful place I’ve ever seen. The mountains are to the west, and seemingly everywhere I go, a majestic view of God’s handiwork is there to behold. I constantly am in awe and have been made to feel very small as I gaze at the heights, the depth, the diversity of landscape. Suffice it to say, the creation God has made here constantly keeps me amazed.

I moved in with my daughter Mary, son-in-law Brett, and their two children, Josephine and Peter. We have had a lot of adjustments, all of us, and blending Grandpa Joel and Dad, into this home, I must say, is probably the hardest on them. I’ve been used to being on my own, coming and going whenever I want, eating non-organic food, and watching news most of the day. Now I’ve been asked to drink filtered water, buy only organic foods, and watch cartoons. The most pressing adjustment is that the kids want to keep me from the evil out in the world. They say I’m too trusting, and there are people here in this state that are looking for victims just like me to prey on.

It is difficult to know who to trust. At times someone we have known for a long time can let us down or betray our trust. The psalmist explains to us to trust in the Lord and not to put our confidence in man. I learned this lesson today, as I met with carpet cleaners to do a basic cleaning in the apartment Mary and Brett left behind. Unknowingly, I was supposed to pay $70 for three (Page 2) rooms. Instead, I was convinced the cheapest they could do the job was $200. Tensions built as I was on the phone with my daughter, the carpet company, and the two men that did the cleaning. Long story short, I got snookered into paying more than their advertised "SPECIAL" promoted price.

God will never let us down. God will never mislead us. And He most certainly isn't out to gobble up all our money. He doesn't need our money!

Proverbs 3:5-6 says, "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths." Sometimes our hearts can say it's ok to trust this person. It's ok to believe in this total stranger. They would never do us wrong. Well, brothers and sisters, yes, they can. When someone says you can trust me, run like the wind in the other direction. Let your yea be yea, and your nay be nay, the Bible tells us. I feel I can trust my brothers and sisters from church. I do allow myself to confide in them, and no one from church has ever spitefully misled me. Instead, I find security, a home, a family, and God's children there. What a blessing from the Lord.

By the way, Psalm 118:8 is the very middle of the Bible. Seems like we all could stand to take a look at that verse, and remind ourselves to trust only in Him. To trust Him with all our hearts. Not to rely on our understanding of things, but to rely and have confidence in our loving Lord Jesus.

Looking over today's events: I should have asked for God's blessings before leaving the door. I should have sought

His protection, before going out into the world. And I should have asked for Him to lead, guide, and direct me. Lessons learned, by the grace of God.

Isn't it a blessing to know we can trust Him? What a joy to know the God of all creation, hears and answers our prayers.

Once, a sweet sister from church asked me a very serious question. I had confided in her, that at times, I have trouble trusting in the Lord. Especially when I'm facing great uncertainty. She said, Joel, do you think God trusts you? The response took me aback. Well, yes, I thought. He trusts me to serve His children in the nursing homes. He trusts me to speak before His people in our local church, so the obvious answer was, "Indeed." She then looked me straight in the eyes and said, "So what's your problem?" What a kick in the pants, just when I needed it.

Trust and obey, for there's no other way, to be happy in Jesus, but to trust and obey. May the Lord bless us, as we daily learn to trust him more and more..

Elder Lloyd Wilkinson

even though my body, all my flesh, the reins, is consumed or destroyed in decomposition, I will see God with my own eyes in my new physical body someday. Now that's a great hope isn't it?

Psalm 16:9–10, “Therefore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoiceth: My flesh also shall rest in hope. For thou wilt not leave my soul in hell; Neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption.” In this psalm David says that his flesh will rest in hope. He was confident that God would not leave his soul in hell. There's David's hope in the resurrection. And then he continues with a prophecy of our Lord Jesus. Lord, you will not suffer your Holy One to see corruption. God will not allow His Son Jesus's body to decompose like ours will.

Unlike Job, who knew his body would disintegrate -- just like all of us will someday – David knew that the body of Jesus would not. It would be raised from the dead before it could decay. And, of course, we know that prophecy came true. Our Lord Jesus was raised from the dead the third day after He died on the cross.

So, here David not only has confidence in his resurrection like Job, but he also prophesies the resurrection of Jesus before his body decays.

The very next Psalm, also by David, Psalm 17:15, “As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness.” When I awake with thy likeness. David had a hope that when he was resurrected, it would be in the likeness of his Lord. This is our hope that we will be raised and have a resurrected body like Jesus had.

Perhaps the clearest Old Testament prophecy of the resurrection is in Isaiah 26:19, “Thy dead men shall live, together with my dead body shall they arise. Awake and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy dew is as the dew of herbs, and the earth shall cast out the dead.”

I could quote others, but let's see what Jesus quoted and taught from the Old Testament with some Sadducees who didn't quite get it.

The Sadducees were the Jewish leaders who catered to the elite, the aristocracy. But they were confused about the resurrection. They didn't believe in it. They believed primarily in the law of Moses, the first 5 books of the Old Testament. They also didn't believe in the spiritual world, angels or the supernatural, or the afterlife.

Here's what Jesus had to say to the Sadducees. Matthew 22:23-24, “The same day came to him the Sadducees, which say that there is no resurrection, and asked him, Saying, Master, Moses said, If a man die, having no children, his brother shall marry his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.” The Sadducees go on to tempt Jesus, asking Him if a woman's husband dies and she remarries his brother, and if it happens seven more times, whose wife will she be in heaven? This was Jewish law. You were supposed to marry your brother's wife if he died and raise his children, so his inheritance was preserved. They're just trying to trap Jesus and prove to him that there's no resurrection. Matthew 22:29-33, “Jesus answered and said unto them, Ye do err, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God. For in the resurrection they neither marry, nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels of God in heaven. But as touching the resurrection of the dead, have ye not read that which was spoken unto you by God, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living. And when the multitude heard this, they were astonished at his doctrine.”

Did you notice that Jesus didn't quote any of the scriptures I did from Job, Psalms, and Isaiah? Have you not read? Hey, how are you guys doing with that annual Bible reading plan? Have you read this, spoken by God to you: I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? Not I WAS the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob. I AM. God is not the God of the dead. He is the God of the living. In other words, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob are alive right now.

Jesus always gets these leaders and priests by saying — ya know, if you would just read your Bible, you would know this stuff. Jesus quotes Exodus chapter 3, where God spoke to Moses from the burning bush saying I AM the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Not I WAS, I AM.

Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob are with God right now, and some day, their new bodies will be raised in the resurrection with the rest of God's children. So Jesus quotes from the first 5 books of the Bible to these Sadducees, instead of quoting from the other OT books they didn't necessarily believe. He hit them where they live.

Paul continued in his time to have to deal with some folks who didn't believe in the resurrection. 1 Corinthians 15:12-19, “Now if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how say some among you that there is no resurrection of the dead? But if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen: And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain. Yea, and we are found false witnesses of God; because we have testified of God that he raised up Christ: whom he raised not up, if so be that the dead rise not. For if the dead rise not, then is not Christ raised: And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins. Then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished. If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable.” The Apostle Paul is saying here that if we don't believe in the resurrection, we are of all men most miserable.

Tim Keller, the author and former pastor of Redeemer Church in NYC said this: “If Jesus rose from the dead, then you have to accept all that he said; if he didn't rise from the dead, then why worry about any of what he said? The issue on which everything hangs is not whether or not you like his teaching but whether or not he rose from the dead.”

It's so important to believe in the resurrection as the core or center of our Christian beliefs, and it's emphasized over and over in the book of Acts, our guidebook for the church today.

and theologian said this: “To preach Christianity meant (to the Apostles) primarily to preach the Resurrection. ... The Resurrection is the central theme in every Christian sermon reported in the Acts. The Resurrection, and its consequences, were the ‘gospel’ or good news which the Christians brought.”

The importance of the resurrection to our faith cannot be over-emphasized or exaggerated.

Lee Strobel, the former atheist investigative reporter turned Christian author wrote this: “It didn’t take long for me to conclude that the truth or falsity of all world religions—and the ultimate meaning of life itself—comes down to just one key issue: did Jesus, or did he not, return from the dead? The answer to that fundamental question would settle everything.”

I know Easter is coming up soon, and it’s the day we celebrate the resurrection of Jesus, but we should actually think about it and celebrate the resurrection every day. And give thanks for it every day. We should talk about it every day. Praise God for it every day.

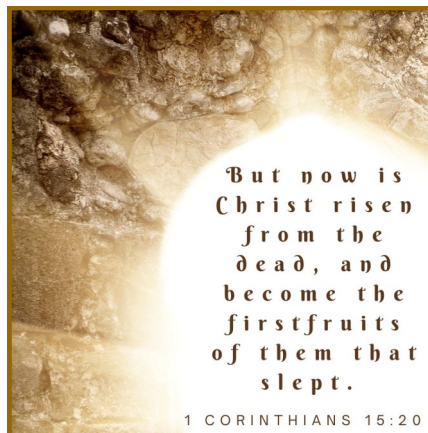

When we believe in the resurrection, we have peace with God. We can live our lives and even face death with the confidence and peace that God will raise us again someday too. The resurrection gives us hope to go on in a life full of pain, trials, hardships, sickness, and death. And that’s not a hope like – I hope I win the lottery, or I hope I become rich and famous, or even I hope I live a self-fulfilling life. Those hopes are longshots or at the very least they’re uncertain.

No, the hope in the resurrection is an earnest expectation that because Jesus was raised, that we will be also. It is certain. The Old Testament saints had the hope of the resurrection, yes. But then Jesus made that hope real for us. He manifested the hope when He really rose from the dead, and over 500 people witnessed the risen Christ. Saw Him, heard Him.

1 Thessalonians 4:13–14, “But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him.” The Greek word that is translated to hope in English there is elpis which means expectation, trust, confidence. In other words, our hope in the resurrection is a confident expectation that we can trust. That is a strong hope. Not some fleeting hope. Pie in the sky hope. It is certain. We can believe it with confidence. An earnest expectation.

1 Peter 1:3–4, “Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, To an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you,” 1 Peter 1:21, “Who by him do believe in God, that raised him up from the dead, and gave him glory; that your faith and hope might be in God.” A lively hope. A confidant expectation we can trust. Jesus is called the first fruits. That means that we have the hope of someday being the next fruits. 1 Corinthians 15:20–23, “But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the firstfruits of them that slept. For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive. But every man in his own order: Christ the firstfruits; afterward they that are Christ’s at his coming.” Even the disciples who had been with Jesus for the 3 years of His ministry couldn’t believe Jesus was raised from the dead. They were cowering in a locked room after Jesus was crucified, scared that the authorities would come after them next. And Jesus just comes walking through the locked door and says, “Peace be unto you.”

Elder Lloyd Wilkinson

The first time, they were all there except Thomas. And he didn’t believe the others when they told him. He said he wouldn’t believe Jesus was alive unless he put his fingers in the nail holes of His hands and thrust his hand in His side. So, Jesus shows up again, same locked room, and just appears and says again, “Peace be unto you.”

John 20:27–29, “Then saith he to Thomas, Reach hither thy finger, and behold my hands; and reach hither thy hand, and thrust it into my side: and be not faithless, but believing. And Thomas answered and said unto him, My Lord and my God. Jesus saith unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed: blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed.” Thomas could see His hands with the holes in them and His side that had been pierced with the sword of the Roman soldier. And Thomas believed. But Jesus said blessed are they that have not seen and yet have believed. That’s you and me. Yes, we are blessed indeed if we believe.

And then the disciples left that locked room. They weren’t scared anymore, because they knew that nothing including death could separate them from Jesus and the love of God. And they turned the world upside down for Christianity.

The Resurrection. It’s the only reason we can have hope in this life. The hope of eternal life.

A few years ago, my family and I visited the 9/11 museum and memorial in New York at the World Trade Center. It was very moving, sad, depressing, and it made me angry to see what pure evil can do. I had a lump in my throat as I read and heard the stories of the victims and first responders, as I heard family members reading the names of their deceased loved ones. I saw the steel beams of the original towers left as a memorial. There was a kind of repository in one area where they had interred the remains of some of the victims. It was quiet as people paid their respects. And I thought, God is so amazing! It doesn’t matter where the remains of those victims are, it doesn’t matter if they’re just dust. God can resurrect that body just like He can one that’s preserved in a mausoleum. And one day when the trumpet sounds, He’ll do just (Page 7) that. He will raise every single one of His children to spend forever and ever with Him!

C.S. Lewis said this about the resurrection: “The New Testament writers speak as if Christ’s achievement in rising from the dead was the first event of its kind in the whole history of the universe. He is the ‘first fruits,’ the pioneer of life, He has forced open a door that has been locked since the death of the first man. He has met, fought, and beaten the King of Death. Everything is different because He has done so.”

It’s so amazing to me that there are so many Old Testament scriptures that point to the resurrection. Here’s a couple more. I want you to notice the language, because somebody much later uses some of the same words.

Isaiah 25:8, “He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord GOD will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth: for the LORD hath spoken it.”

Hosea 13:14, “I will ransom them from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death: O death, I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy destruction: repentance shall be hid from mine eyes.”

Paul finishes his resurrection chapter with this. 1 Corinthians 15:54–57, “... Death is swallowed up in victory. O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? The sting of death is sin; and the strength of sin is the law. But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.”

Praise God!

May the Lord Bless You All.
